Terms

This price list is printed several weeks in advance of planting time and the prices quoted are the lowest current prices at the time. However, we are ready to meet any prices offered anywhere for the same grade of stock. Therefore, prices are subject to change without notice.

ORDERS LESS THAN $2.00. Our prices are for stock taken at the nursery. Add 10 per cent for parcel post delivery. However, we will deliver, free of charge, anywhere in the city of Buffalo, or within a radius of 10 miles of our nursery, orders amounting to $2.00 or more.

SUBSTITUTION. We reserve the right in case we are out of a variety, to substitute another of equal merit when it can be done (always labeling with correct name), unless the party ordering says "No Substituting," in which case we will fill order as completely as we can, and refund balance of remittance.

GENERAL TERMS. Net, cash with order. No discounts allowed.

Our Guaranty

All goods are guaranteed to reach you in good condition; mistakes, if made, will be promptly rectified. Accept shipment, examine and count on receipt and notify us at once should there be any errors, and the carrier as well, if any damaged stock. This guarantee not good unless above requirements are complied with. We do not guarantee continued growth. Remember, a tree, shrub, or plant is a living organism. It breathes, drinks, and feeds, and is liable to attacks of disease and insects. At prices we sell, it is impossible for us to guarantee growth or to be responsible for stock after delivery to our customers in good condition.

THE EDWARD LEHDE NURSERIES Gardenville, N. Y.

NON-WARRANTY. While we hold ourselves in readiness, on proper proof, to replace free of charge all trees, etc., that may prove untrue to label, or refund the amount paid, we give no warranty, expressed or implied, as to description, quality, productiveness, or any other matter of any nursery stock, seeds, bulbs, or plants we sell.

The Planting of Roses

WHERE. Select the spot for your Rose garden where the sun shines for at least half a day; out in the open where there is little chance of large trees or bushes robbing the soil of its nourishment. Avoid low spots, where water stands for any length of time after a rain.

WHEN. Spring planting of dormant bushes should be done as early as possible, as soon as the ground is free of frost and not muddy.

HOW. First have the soil in the Rose bed spaded from 12 to 18 inches deep, which should be allowed to settle. Then dig a hole amply large to hold the roots so that the feeder roots reach out in all directions for plant food. Remove any weak branches and cut back to within 3 to 5 inches from the union of bud and stock. Spread out the roots, cover with good soil and firm thoroughly; after which fill the depression with water. Let that drain away, water again, allow to drain and then finish filling with loose soil. Plant so that the union of bud and stock, in other words, the knob about half-way between branches and roots, is one inch under ground. Now mound the soil around each plant 4 or 5 inches, leaving merely the top bud exposed; this prevents the strong winds and sun from drying out the branches before the roots become established. This mound should be removed gradually and carefully when the buds are well started.

Another way is to cover the tops with newspapers over which burlap is laid, to prevent destruction of paper, but the better method is mounding with soil.

The distance between Rose bushes should be from 18 to 24 inches, depending on the size. Climbing Roses are planted in the same manner as the bush Rose, but at a greater distance apart.

CULTIVATION. Keep the soil around the plants loose to conserve moisture. Water thoroughly when the soil is quite dry but depend more on the hoe than the hose.

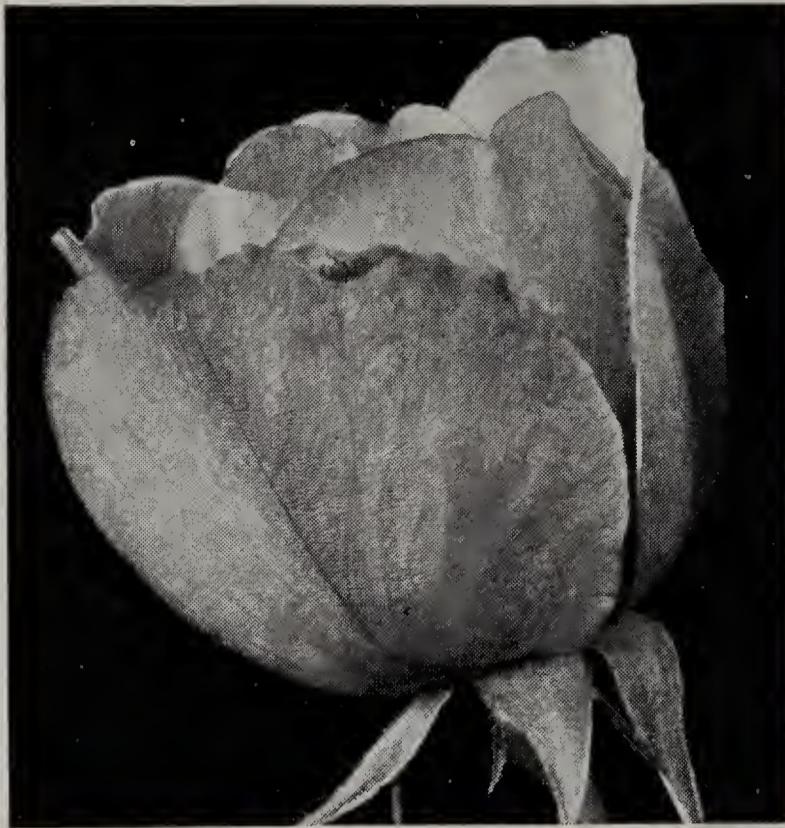

FERTILIZATION. At the time of preparing the soil, incorporate some well-rotted stable manure. As this is increasingly difficult to obtain, shredded or pulverized cattle manure, as well as sheep manure, can be purchased in bags. This is in a concentrated form and a smaller amount should be used.

If your soil is very heavy, a liberal amount of peat moss added is very beneficial, but this should be well mixed in the soil. One bale of peat moss covers 125 square feet 2 inches deep, which is not too much to use.

FEEDING. Concentrated plant food such as Vigoro or Dold's 5-12-6 Fertilizer should be used in small amounts and often after the plants have started. Use about one pound to 100 square feet, about every three weeks until midsummer.

We carry these fertilizers and peat moss at all times. (Incidentally, we sell Rose bushes).

Plants of Annual Flowers

For Flower Beds, Porch Boxes, Etc.

Including New Introductions of 1934 and 1935.

The varieties listed are suitable for transplanting, but those like Poppy, Morning Glory, Calliopsis, Lupine, Alyssum, Nasturtium, Candytuft, and many others not listed here are best sown where wanted as they resent transplanting. For these we offer seeds.

Young plants transplant most readily and give better results than older plants which are stem-hard and consequently become more or less stunted. We make successive sowings to have plants of proper age for transplanting.
